SAVANT PROTECTION ANNOUNCES PARTNERSHIP WITH IT FEDERAL SALES
Expands availability of application whitelisting product to Federal Accounts via GSA Schedule

December 7, 2009 – Hudson, NH – Savant Protection announced today a partnership with IT Federal Sales, a Service Disabled Veteran Owned Small Business, to represent its application whitelisting security software on the GSA Schedule. Savant Protection's easy to deploy application whitelisting software has been added to IT Federal's product line-up that includes products from other leading information security players.

Savant's flexible and easy to manage application whitelisting software system makes it easy and cost effective for under staffed government IT organizations to better control applications on end user computers and stop malware from compromising their systems. Government computer users can operate without fear of compromise, since the Savant Protection system will prevent drive by downloads, and stop malicious email attachments or targeted phishing attacks from executing. Savant ends the need for IT to spend time on rebuilds due to infection or pollution.

"Since Savant is being used to protect emergency services systems, police and other local government applications, it is consistent with Savant's strategy to expand sales to the federal government," said Paul Paget, CEO of Savant Protection. "We are pleased to partner with IT Federal Systems to facilitate the availability of Savant's automated whitelisting, anti-malware solution to the federal government," Savant is also extremely proud to partner with a service disabled veteran owned small business."

"Savant's Protection's addition to our portfolio of security products is consistent with our focus on bringing best of breed new technologies to the federal customer, and facilitating the purchasing process," said Paul Cino, President of IT Federal Sales.

In addition to US Federal customers, GSA pricing is also extended to all state, local and accredited educational institutions.
